The actual blade sanding process is fully automatic the unit is able to detect the shape of the blade without preprogramming, and it is operated by one operator only, controlling the unit by simply pushing a holdtorun button. Due to an integrated dust suction system, wellknown issues with dust in the production facility are reduced to a minimum, and as a result, the working environment is significantly improved. Compared with manual sanding, a semiautomated sanding unit will perform the treatment faster, more efficient and with a much more consistent finish. Thanks to its versatility the solution can be used for sanding In addition, the unit operates at a low sound level. Check out our video. Check out our online brochure.
