ETOPO1 is a 1 arc-minute global relief model of Earth's surface that integrates land topography and ocean bathymetry. ETOPO1 Global Relief Model is used to calculate the Volumes of the World's Oceans and to derive a Hypsographic Curve of Earth's Surface.Cite ETOPO1: doi:10.7289/V5C8276M Grid Versions Registrations Grid/node-registered: cells are centered on lines of latitude and longitude (21601 by 10801 cells). View and download over 800 regional and global datasets, including satellite data, model output, and in situ measurements from field sensors. Built from global and regional data sets, it is available in "Ice Surface" (top of Antarctic and Greenland ice sheets) and "Bedrock" (base of the ice sheets). Cell/pixel-registered: cell edges are along lines of latitude and longitude (21600 by 10800 cells). About grid registration. Datums Horizontal datum: WGS 84 geographic Vertical datum: sea level. More specific vertical datums, such as mean sea level, mean high water, and mean low water, differ by less than the vertical accuracy of ETOPO1 (~10 meters at best), and are therefore effectively equivalent. The grid-registered is the authoritative registration. Data Catalog Coastal Conditions A small lock or <https://> means you've safely connected to a .gov website. The cell-registered is derived from the grid-registered, and the conversion produces slightly flattened relief. Share sensitive information only on official, secure websites. DBDB5 contains gridded values at five-minute spacings and has a resolution equivalent to a 1:4,000,000 scale chart. NCEI's ETOPO1 is a 1 arc-minute global relief model of Earth's surface that integrates land topography and ocean bathymetry. It was built from numerous global and regional data sets, and is available in "Ice Surface" (top of Antarctic and Greenland ice sheets) and "Bedrock" (base of the ice sheets) versions.
