Why do you convert your video format to 3GP?3 GP files is a multimedia file that can be stored either in audio, video or audio and video. These files are transmitted via 3G between mobile phones and other devices. For this reason, the 3GP files are very small. It makes them great to send via a mobile phone, for example via Bluetooth or a link to download, such as an email. These files are also suitable for loading and sending others.

Cell phones, tablets and other devices can open and reproduce these files. In addition, if you use the right programs, such as Microsoft Movies or Quicktime, you can also use them on the computer (both Microsoft and Macintosh). What are the advantages of using 3GP format? There are many advantages to use the 3GP file; however, they include: The small size of the file, as already mentioned, is one of the most important advantages of 3GP file is its small size. This is important as the 3GP files mainly go on mobile devices, 3G and now on 4G networks. As we know, these networks are often slower thanstandard WI-FI compounds, especially for those living in rural areas. Another advantage is the compatibility of files. Although 3GP is for mobile devices, they can be open, edited and viewed on tablets and desktop computers if you have a compatible program like Quicktime. Any stockings? You probably know that this is a lot of advantages and disadvantages of each video file format. In this case, the format (3GP) is often lower than the other size of the files. This is because video files must be compressed so that the size of the file is so low, so they can be sent on 3G. For this reason, 3GP files are the best for the exchange of short videos rather than for professional use, such as filmmaking, YouTube video, for a project or a documentary. The HD Convert Prize offers two main ways of conversion: free and primitive. As mentioned earlier, the free version contains a watermark and the quality of the video is limited. However, the Award removes this watermark and unlocks HD and ultra HD quality, not to mention the improvement of the speed of conversion, the speed of downloading and enables downloadable files of any size.

There's no limit on the size of the file. Unlike other subscription services, HD Convert award starts at a low price of $4.99. In addition, HD Convert also maintains all downloaded files (less of the current file format) on our servers within 24 hours.

In the event that your Internet connection falls for any unexpected reason, the process of transforming the file can resume with a minimum break (without a zero launch). It's available on free and primitive versions. So, who's HD Convert Award? This ultimately depends on your intended use of 3GP or another file.
