Learn more Could it be that these fields are written with a font that isn't embedded and so when you try to edit the field it is forced to Arial. I see from the list of fonts an ArialMT that is not embedded.I see what you mean. But I am not usually dealing with forms from Word, so I'm sorry not too good at answering.I do see that the text is not set as default text, but rather as filled from the form. It is not visible in the default data but rather appears as if the form is filled by a previous user. (clearing/resetting the form deletes the content) Be kind and respectful, give credit to the original source of content, and search for duplicates before posting.
