Insigne HelloThe Trainer, (Kevin Rama)on the 14th June.was outstanding in the way he engaged with the group. His approach encouraged open discussion and active participation, which made the learning experience both interactive and enjoyable. He presented various real-life scenarios that helped us apply the material in a practical way, making the training feel highly relevant and realistic. What stood out most was his ability to explain concepts clearly and in great detail, while also encouraging us to think critically and explore ideas beyond the standard answers. His teaching style pushed us to think outside the box and engage with the content on a deeper level.Overall, this was one of the best training sessions Ive ever attended. I would be very happy to have him as a for all future training sessions, as his training delivery and expertise made a lasting impact.
